

Cultivating Resilience: Navigating Nature Risk for Agricultural Supply Chain Security

Wednesday June 10, 2026

Moderated by Emma Piercy Head of Climate Change & Energy Policy, FDF

Featuring

Mary Goldman, Principal Product Manager for Climate and Nature Risk Solutions, Risilience

Claire Grimstead, Senior Sustainable Sourcing Manager, Princes

Agenda

Cultivating Resilience: Navigating Nature Risk for Agricultural Supply Chain Security

Why Nature, Why Now?

Claire Grimstead – Industry Show and Tell

Panel Discussion

Questions and Answers

Nature Risk is Business Risk

Riise evaluates the financial impact of climate and nature risks

TIME TO Riise

Quantify.
Build a stronger foundation for reporting, disclosures and strategic decision-making.

Strategize.
Understand climate and nature risk exposure in financial terms, clearly and confidently.

Deliver.
Turn strategic buy-in into financially-informed, measurable action for commercial success.

Market-leading functionality with comprehensive coverage and product differentiation verdantix

Centre for Risk Studies
UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE Judge Business School
Platform partner to the Cambridge Centre for Risk Studies University of Cambridge, UK

Businesses Need to Prepare for Nature Risks

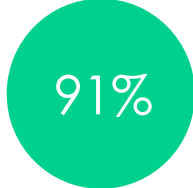

because they are already having financial consequences.

Physical Risk

Damage to assets

Sparking transmission lines ignited untrimmed tree branches, leading to a series of deadly wildfires in California.

share price fall

settlement

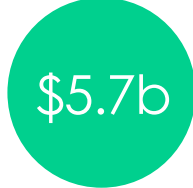

Water dependency

Planned Berlin gigafactory not adequately able to manage its dependency on declining groundwater.

share price fall in 24 hours

facility delayed

Transition Risk

Insufficient reporting

Reported to have sourced palm fruit from protected plantations in Indonesia, in violation of its sustainability claims.

share price fall in 24 hours

Reputation risk

Repeatedly sourced cattle raised on illegally deforested land in the Brazilian rainforest.

fines

potential loss of valuation gain

Cultivating Resilience: Navigating Nature Risk for Agricultural Supply Chain Security.

Claire Grimstead, Senior Sustainable Sourcing Manager Princes

Cultivating Resilience: Navigating Nature Risk for Agricultural Supply Chain Security.

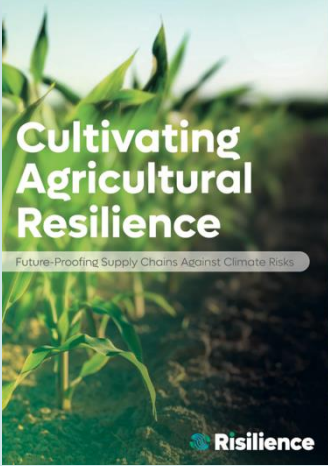

Panel Discussion

Key resources

Cultivating Agricultural Resilience

Risilience Nature Pilot Programme

London Climate Action Week (LCAW) Event

Thursday, June 25, The Garden Museum

Talking the Language of the CFO:
Quantifying the ROI of Climate Resilience

Thank you

risilience.com